Province Might Well Follow Practice of B.C. and Provide Matron—Some Protection is Due From Government

That Alberta might well follow the British Columbia plan of having a matronly woman official, a friend of the teachers, who goes about the country investigating the conditions and circumstances under which women teachers live, and in whom the young girls in the outlying districts can confide, is the opinion expressed by an official of the provincial department of education following recent reports of the indignities to which young girl teachers in some districts have been subjected on pain of losing their schools.

"There are many instances of young and inexperienced girls who need the advice and protection which a matron could give," said the official in question, "and the plan could well be followed here where many of the girls in order to obtain a school at all, have to go to distant places under present circumstances should have any but a matron teacher."

Inability to Enforce Discipline Indicated Within Walls

KINGSTON, Ont., June 1.—Warden W. B. McLaughlin of Kingston penitentiary refused yesterday to comment on reports current here that all has not been serene within the big walls of the institution.

One official, however, said lack of discipline among convicts was noticeable. He said one convict recently took a lighted cigarette from the warden's hand and calmly smoked it and that nothing was done to the convict.

At another time, he said, convicts deliberately started playing ball against orders of officials.

It was also learned trouble in one of the shops recently threatened to become serious when two convicts threatened to throw their guard over a railing in the shop some 20 feet to the stone floor. Another convict tipped off the guards who offered to take on all the shop prisoners by one.

REAL ESTATE DEAL HALTED IN EAST END

Intricate Property Transaction Involves Lumber Company

A settlement has not yet been reached in one of the city's most involved real estate transactions involving the Mutari Lumber Co. property, it was learned from John Peterson, superintendent of the city land department.

The transfer of the company of the third, fourth and fifth lots north of 114 avenue on the west side of 83 street has been held up at the request of the company.

This transaction dates back to 1931 when the lumber firm, wishing to extend its property, purchased Lot 19, Block 65, Parkdale. At that time an offer was made by the company for the purchase of the three adjoining lots in question, 20, 21 and 22. It was discovered by city officials a short time ago that these three lots had never been purchased although the company had made use of them.

NO TAXES PAID
M. D. Mutari, manager of the lumber firm, explained to city commissioners that he had been under the impression the lots had been purchased. No taxes were paid.

At a meeting of the city commission time ago, commissioners were instructed to execute a deed for the property to the company, which expressed willingness to pay up the back taxes.

Another map was struck, however, when residents in the district submitted a petition of 27 names objecting to the use of the lots for lumber purposes, it being explained that it was a contradiction of the zoning bylaw which constitutes the city in question as a residential district.

The company then considered buying property in the light industrial area opposite the Northwest Circuit Company's plant. But the lumber business was designated as "heavy industrial" and no tax purchase was out of the question.

SITE BANNED
An attempt was then made by Mutari's to locate opposite the site of their factory, 114 avenue and 83 street. The zoning bylaw also banned this site.

Subsequent to objections by residents of the district to the company using lots in that area for lumber purposes, council at its last meeting passed the following resolution:

"That we concur in the commissioner's report and authorize execution of the transfer, and in the opinion of the commissioners on the advice of the city solicitor the use made

NEW YORK, June 1.—The quality which most quickly attracts a man to one of the opposite sex is an alluring personality. Therefore, a woman trying to cultivate qualities of charm must first of all brush up on the fundamentals of these elusive will-o-the-wisps.

Appearance, health, speaking voice and manners are some of the tangible items with which she must deal firmly to begin with.

Just as a woman is more likely to be drawn to a healthy man than a sickly one, so does a woman become more attractive to men when she gives that fine sense of physical well-being which, whether she is pretty or not, creates the illusion of beauty.

It is odd that while standards of feminine good looks change superficially from generation to generation and from country to country, the chief essentials remain the same.

Men of every land and every time have admired an erect carriage; bright, intelligent eyes, soft glowing skin, white teeth; a body that is neither too thin nor too burdened with fat; a voice that is soft, full of expression and sincere.

And mentally there have also been changes in standards. In the main men prefer the same types in feminine minds today that they did a thousand years ago. That is to say they adore docile, sympathetic and warm kindreds.

A man wants to know that the woman of his choice would not let him down, that she would defend him even when he was in the wrong fight for him if necessary.

Men pay less attention to fashion than most women think. That is, your young man does not usually know whether the gown you are wearing is last year's or this. Yet if he is not becoming and if he does not see the eyes of other men in restaurant or theatre viewing admiringly in your direction he would mightily soon discover that something was wrong with your way of dressing.

And if you embarrassed him by not observing the usages of good breeding, he would quickly find some other girl to take out.

It is the same with make-up. Ask almost any man whether he thinks women should use rouge and mascara. Ten chances to one, he will say that what he likes is naturalness.

Yet leave off your rouge and lipstick for an evening. Then watch his quizzical glance as he vainly tries to make out what has transformed you from an exciting woman into a dull one.

And speaking of artifice, no matter how self-sufficient you are, don't be afraid to sing: "Men like it and you will like it too, once you have experienced the thrilling satisfaction of being cared for and protected."

REMEMBER, too, in cultivating this personality that will fit you for love, not to be ashamed to show your feelings.

A man does not want a woman to be too eager and yet he soon turns from her if his wooing never meets with honest, unfeigned response. The happy halfway mark between too great ardor and too little must be fixed by the woman herself. Poise, tact and sincerity must guide her.

A charming example of the woman whose personality attracts men is Ruth Chatterton. The intelligent actress fulfills in mind, manner and appearance the average man's ideal of femininity.

That this is true is proved by the court which surrounds her wherever she goes.

"That is possible, but I will hear definitely later today."

As there is no trace of Smith until Monday, it is possible that Mr. Smith will fly to Peace River.

SAVE TO BUY and BUY TO SAVE

READ this headline forwards or read it backwards — it gives you the same, sound advice.

You have certain fixed living expenses — rent, food, clothing, light, and other necessities. You save money each week so that these bills can be paid at the first of every month. Whatever else you buy must come from surplus savings, over and above those set apart to cover living costs. To make those savings buy the utmost value for the money is the essence of true economy.

Save to buy — then buy to save. Know what you need to buy before going to the store. Know what you can afford to pay before you start out to make a purchase. That is the one sure way to get the most for your money.

Make it a habit to read the advertisements in your newspaper every day. By doing so you will learn where to buy the things you need and where your dollar will buy the greatest value. The advertisements will show you where to purchase better food, better clothes, and yet save you money. They will help you live better and enjoy the good things of life. They help you to buy in order to save.

Man Under Quiz Takes Pot Shot at Detectives—Now in Hospital

TORONTO, June 1.—In a running gun fight between police and two men they were attempting to question, Detective William Greaves, of the Toronto police, and George Hamilton, 29, were wounded here today.

Hamilton has been charged with attempting to murder Greaves, with shooting with intent to kill other officers. Neither of the men with his husband, Fred, George Hamilton, 29, was wounded here today.

Greaves was hit in the right shoulder and right hand and Hamilton in the right foot. Police say Greaves and another officer stopped Hamilton and Charles Smith at Queen and Eglinton streets to question them. Hamilton is alleged to have drawn a revolver and fired point blank at the detective, wounding him in the shoulder.

Greaves and another officer chased the men for several blocks through alleys, stopping in one of the exchanges. Hamilton was wounded and Greaves was hit in the right arm. Hamilton was taken to the hospital and Greaves was taken to the hospital.

Both arrested men said they came here recently from Western Canada. Smith was born in Toronto.
